REPORT NO.

1. It is reported that the 9th and 27th Artillery Divisions are stationed in Austria or Hungary. This is in addition to the 95th Infantry Division and the 13th and 17th Mechanized Divisions, previously known and reported by this source as well.
2. The Soviet elements in Polish-occupied territory are identified as the 65th Army in Silesia and the 70th Army in Pomerania. The 70th Army is said to comprise the 60th and 108th Infantry Divisions, the 22nd and 109th Mechanized Divisions, and the 126th Tank Division.
3. It is stated that the troops in Rumania under Tolbukhin consist of three mechanized divisions, one tank division, and one artillery division.

Comment: The same report includes also a list of divisions stationed in Germany, which adds nothing to previous knowledge but seems to be almost entirely correct. 25X1A
